Dear parents and carers

I am writing this letter because we want to tell you about hedgehogs. We have been talking about how you can save them from extinction and share our goals with you. Hedgehogs are vulnerable to extinction in Britain because they face a lot of dangers. Here are some top tips about how to save them:

Try to remember not to leave litter out because it can really hurt and even kill them. Please make holes for them to get to garden to garden just make sure you ask your neighbours for permission. Try to check bonfires because it can kill them and other wildlife. Make sure to check tall grass because you cut it. This is a warning about slag pellets because they can kill them so let hedgehogs eat pellets. Finally, please put out shallow dishes because it can save them.

Thank you for reading my letter. I hope you found my words helpful. If you have any questions just visit

Yours sincerely
Barnaby Dixon.
